

Romance Scam Recovery Project's

SAFETY GUIDE BINGO

Is your romantic messaging partner a romance scammer?

The aim of this bingo is to hit nothing at all!

Check if there are other social media profiles with your chat partner's name and picture.

Check whether your chat partner's social media friends list matches what they have told you about themselves and their life situation.

Do a reverse image search on your chat partner's profile picture.

Be cautious of requests to receive packages or valuable shipments.

Be careful with your personal information; do not give out your personal details.

Be suspicious of requests for money and shipments, and do not send money to someone you have not met before.

If things are progressing quickly with your chat partner, take a break from communicating.

Protect your privacy; do not send intimate photos of yourself to your chat partner. This will prevent you from being extorted.

If you suspect something about your romantic chat partner, discuss the matter with a loved one or a professional.
